VOLUNTEERS IN CAMP

Sections Take Part In "Battle"

M.G.s SUPPORT INFANTRY

The Hong Kong Volunteer Defence Corps held their annual training camp at Fanling during the week-end, which served as training for the old hands and an instructive demonstration for recruits, and was attended by the following sections:—Nos. 1 and 3 Machine Gun Companies, Portuguese Infantry and the Armoured Car Section.

BATTLE IN PROGRESS

On Saturday, the M. G. Companies were ordered to the "battlefield" where the infantry was being held up by the enemies. Gun placements were positioned by M. G. officers, after which runners were despatched to headquarters for the rest of the section to move up. The reinforcement arrived in full fighting order half an hour later and were immediately sent into cover. A number of guns were mounted in well-concealed spots on a small hill, trained on their targets and ranges were quickly checked. At "zero hour" all guns went into action.

Throughout the "battle" the recruits watched the action from high vantage points and officers explained every detail of the orders and intention of the reinforcement party.

Every participant in this mock battle took his part seriously as if in real warfare. It was regrettable, however, that owing to lack

MANILA SENSATION

Firm Manager Commits Suicide

Manila, Dec. 6.

A sensation was caused here this morning by the suicide of Mr. Rafael Drusdale, Norwegian, acting manager of the Bachrach Motor Company.

It appears that Mr. E. M. Bachrach, head of the concern, returned to Manila from the United States last evening by clipper. He visited the office this morning and conferred with Mr. Drusdale.

During the discussion Mr. Drusdale excused himself and entered the toilet. A few minutes later a pistol shot rang out. Mr. Drusdale was found dead with a wound in the chest.

Deceased left a letter for the police stating, "I have betrayed the confidence of my employer."

POPE CONFINED TO BED

Condition Regarded With Anxiety

Rome, Dec. 5.

It is learned that His Holiness the Pope is indisposed and will be unable to attend the service at the Vatican in the morning.

All engagements have been cancelled indefinitely. He is in a dropical condition and has a swelling on his leg.

The Pope is suffering from an attack of asthma and has developed a slight temperature. It is feared that influenza may intervene. His condition is regarded with some anxiety in view of his weak heart.

BLOOD CLOTS ROUND KNEE

The real nature of the Pope's illness is formation of clots of blood round the knee, due to imperfect circulation of blood. The danger is that if the clots do not dissolve one may reach the heart with probably a fatal result. The doctor is urging him to keep perfectly quiet, but he insists on rising periodically.

The Pope's health became worse during the spiritual retreat in which he was participating since Sunday night.

Of the twenty five prelates participating in these ceremonies probably only Cardinal Pacelli, the Papal Secretary of State, was aware that the Pope was absent at yesterday's ceremonies. His cough had been heard behind the screen which hides him from view during the past four days and some began to wonder why he no longer coughed yesterday.

AMBULANCE OVERTURNS IN KOWLOON

Occupants Escape Injury
PATIENT CARRIED AT TIME

An accident, involving an ambulance of the Hong Kong Fire Brigade department, and a motor lorry, occurred yesterday morning in Prince Edward Road near its intersection with Boundary Street.

A remarkable feature of the mishap was the fact that although the Fire Brigade vehicle overturned no person was injured.

At Scene Of Accident

Picture shows the crowd that gathered at the scene of the accident at the junction of Prince Edward Road and Boundary Street where an ambulance turned over.

The ambulance at the time was conveying a patient, stated to be a mendicant, and was on its way to the Kwong Wah Hospital, via Prince Edward Road. Besides the patient, the ambulance also carried a driver and two attendants who were in the rear together with the patient.

According to a Police report, it appears that the lorry was travelling ahead of the ambulance along Prince Edward Road.

When nearing the junction of Boundary Street, the lorry swerved and the ambulance in turn also swerved.

Apparently in an effort to right itself, the ambulance skidded and turned over. There was a loud crash as the vehicle hit the road.

Immediately crowds gathered at the scene of the mishap. Assistance was rendered and it was discovered that the occupants had fortunately, though perhaps somewhat miraculously, escaped without injury.

A few minutes later the ambulance was righted and taken in tow back to the Fire Station.

Fanling Meet

Successful "First Of The Season"

TWO GOOD RUNS

Followers, horses and hounds were in great fettle yesterday afternoon for the first meet of the Fanling Hounds which took place at the Stanton's bungalow.

Nature had prepared a lovely day, and the setting was as picturesque as ever, so it was no wonder that a goodly number rode to hounds whilst a large assemblage of enthusiastic supporters swelled the list, thus ensuring a most successful "first of the season," which must have proved most gratifying to the new Master, Captain Swinbourne, of the Royal Ulster Rifles.

Between forty and fifty riders assembled, and by three o'clock

CONSTITUTIONAL CRISIS

Personal Letters To King

DOWNING STREET ACTIVITY

London, Dec. 5.

A number of Members of Parliament are writing the King assuring him that they would be willing to support him in any action he thinks necessary to take to defend his constitutional rights.

A group of Conservatives decided yesterday to take the step of writing personal letters and ask others to do the same. It is not known whether any Liberals or Labourites have written.

Sir John Simon, the Home Secretary, remained at 10 Downing Street for two hours after the Cabinet meeting.

Mr. W. T. Monckton, K.C., who is the legal adviser to the Duchy of Cornwall, arrived at 10 Downing Street at 11 a.m. at the conclusion of the Cabinet meeting and remained for over two hours.

ENGAGEMENTS CANCELLED.
A Buckingham Palace communiqué states that the King's official engagements have been cancelled for the present. A most important engagement in the King's diary next week was a tour of the Staffordshire potteries on Wednesday and Thursday. Another engagement was the inspection of the Scots Guards at the Tower of London on Tuesday morning.

The coming and going of Cabinet Ministers to Downing Street continued during the afternoon. Prominent among them was John Simon.

A notable caller at the Downing Street Office was the Attorney General, Sir Donald Somervell.

The Archbishop of Westminster asked the clergy and people to offer united prayers for King and country. Permission was granted for exposition of the Blessed Sacrament to-morrow whenever possible.

Feeling "Run Down?"

Just suppose that right now you were talking to a physician.

YOU would have to confess to him that somehow you seem to tire very quickly nowadays; that your energy is gone and that now and then you feel jumpy and irritated.

"My dear man!" he would no doubt say, "look at the symptoms logically. Yours is a clear case of strained nerves. We need not go into how you got that way. The climate, hard and nervous work, late nights, they can all be to blame—but you want to know how to become your old self again. Why not start taking Sanatogen—it's really great stuff! It's made just for people like you, and I know from long experience that it will do you a lot of good. You have asked too much from your nerves, and with Sanatogen you replace the lost energy quickly."

Over 25,000 physicians are of the opinion that taking Sanatogen is the easy and logical way back to real health and vitality. Why not give Sanatogen a trial? Every chemist sells it. Start taking it now, then you will soon notice its remarkable influence on your health and vitality.

HOLY COMMUNION

A Drama Whose Text Is In The Bible

REV. H. W. BAINES' SERMON

Preaching at Choral Eucharist in St. John's Cathedral yesterday morning, the Rev. H. W. Baines, dealing with Holy Communion said that it was a drama whose text was in the Bible. If our religion, he said, were based as others upon the consensus of the best human opinion then there would simply be a subject for discussion either as an ethical power or a metaphysical explorer.

Taking as his text, "For as often as ye eat this bread and drink this cup, ye proclaim the Lord's death till He come." (I Corinthians IV. 25) the preacher said:—

The Holy Communion is a drama whose text is in the Bible. The purpose and the direction of the whose service is to demonstrate the historical drama of our religion. And of this the Bible is the text. So that the purpose for which we are here at the Communion is not first for mutual exhortation nor only an act of prayer, nor even a uniquely sacred opportunity for fellowship but rather for the re-enactment by divine permission of that drama of our redemption now 2,000 years old but ageless.

Here, if the intention of our Master and our own hearts could but be realised, we should have the Church in action. There would be assembled the people of this parish, young and old representative of every walk of life giving themselves with reasonable devotion to be absorbed in the unceasing activity of the Son of the Living God. In such action what could be more appropriate than the use of the Psalms and of the Scriptures? For the Psalms are, as it were, the songs of praise of the people of God and the scriptures are the historical records with which the Church has been endowed by its own sons and which it has tested before it admitted to its use.

ENDURING LINK

It is always well whether at the Communion Service or morning or evening prayer to remember when we sing the Psalms how enduring is the link that they are between us and the people of God of whom Jesus was born. They are Christian literature as Shakespeare is English because of their character; and they are international literature as Shakespeare because of their quality. The older liturgies were very much more full of the Psalter than is ours to-day but I think we shall not badly fall if, in the adornment and expression of our worship, we use both the hymns of the ancient people of God and also those of His church in Christ right up to our own day. Again the recital of the Psalms or of the hymns is an excellent tonic against individualism and the pride or gloom so often accompany it. Take the 119th Psalm or example and you can't without conceit take on yourself all its many promises of devotion and piety but if you imagine it as the hymn of the church, the Body of Christ, then so far from suffering conceit you become gathered within the impetus of the whole worshipping society; so again in the passages of the Psalms condemning the ungodly you will often find that what would be un-Christian if said of anybody you know might wholesomely be said about you and your own sins.

THE CONNECTION

You will have noticed that in every Sacrament and occasional Office of our Church a passage from the Scriptures is read. Why is this? In order to emphasise the connection between what is going forward when a child is baptised, a man and woman are married, a sick man is anointed, one is buried, and what Jesus Himself spoke or did in His historical life upon earth. Each Sacrament and service is, as it were, a scene within the great drama using or text the Bible, that is why the text applied to the books that were admitted to the Canon of the New Testament was their historical genuineness. And this is inevitable when they are the sacraments of a religion that is a bond between man and God which is not made of human opinion but of fact corded and bound together. Hence the inevitable insistence of biblical criticism.

ETHICAL PIONEER

If our religion were based as are others upon the consensus of the best human opinion then there would be no place for the moral acceptance of Christ; He would simply be a subject for discussion either as an ethical pioneer or a metaphysical explorer. But since

It is so that the Christian Church bases its own personal claim and the claim that it makes for God upon the historical truth of Jesus Christ, then it must not only allow but invite searching, albeit reverent, criticism of its documents and records. If you denounce such criticism whether out of respect for the authority of the Bible or for the authority of the Church you are in fact abandoning the appeal of the Church to history, and with it the principal of the Incarnation.

WHERE CHURCH STANDS

I received a few days ago a letter from one of the foremost and most radical New Testament scholars in England. In it he says how during the past eight months since his book on history and interpretation of the Gospels the religious application of much that was written from the literary critical point of view in that book has been clear to him with much greater certainty. There is no doubt that a Church that is not afraid to present its birth certificate for examination and proof deserves to stand in the place where nobody will care to deny the sincerity of its statements nor the historicity of its original documents. And that is where our Church stands now.

EUCCHARIST

There is no place in the Church's life in which the prominence of the Bible is greater than the Eucharist. Here it is in the words of St. Paul that we "show the Lord's death till He come." Have you ever realised before how inseparably wedded the Bible is to the worship of the Church in this service? Included within it are Psalms or hymns, biblical epistles, biblical Gospels, the recitation of the words with which our Lord instituted the Lord's Supper and the Gloria in excelsis. It seems that the further this service reaches out in the love and purpose of God to gather in men and women from highways and byways, the further back it drives its roots into their historical soil.

If a stranger were to come into the Church during this Celebration and were to watch the whole drama enacted; if he were to see how we prepare ourselves by attention to the Law and the instruction of the Epistle and the proclamation of the Gospel to recite with the whole Church the one Creed; if he were to watch and mark how offering in sympathy and understanding the whole state of Christ's Church is as we draw near by way of confession and absolution to lift up our hearts to where the head of our Church stands, before we ask that we may be taken on the wings of His sacrifice to make the offering of our own lives as we share in the common meal, and if he did not leave until the cries of praise were echoing in his ears, would he not know that we had been showing forth our Lord's death till He come? Of this showing forth the Bible is the text and again we honour it today: the Bible in whose pages we read our invitation to come here today and in whose pages is written the hope that we have not to wait till He chooses to come, only He till we choose to open.

UNIVERSITY ROWING

The Oxford President, J. S. Lewis (King's, Parramatta, and Christ Church) set up a record when he beat W. J. H. Liverstide (Radley and St. Edmund Hall) by 19 4-sec. in 7min. 41sec. in the final of the Silver Challenge Sculls. The previous fastest time was the 7min. 54 4-sec. made by J. McG. Fisher (Magdalen), in 1934.

Conditions recently were all in favour of a fast time, very little stream and a strong following wind all the way up. Lewis, at First Station, gained a distinct advantage in the Reach, and sculling in excellent style, steadily increased his advantage to the finish.

"RAMONA"

In no detail did Director Henry King compromise with the historical records in filming "Ramona," 20th Century-Fox picture produced in the new perfected Technicolor, currently at the Queen's, Alhambra and Star Theatres to-day.

This beautiful picturization of Helen Hunt Jackson's famous novel of the California of yesterday carries the full conviction of realism.

Many of the articles of jewellery worn by Loretta Young, featured as Ramona, are genuine antiques. Many of the "Ramona" Indians, engaged from neighbouring reservations, wear ornaments handed down by their forefathers, natives of this part of the country.

Senora Moreno, portrayed by Pauline Frederick, reprimands a youngster in the picture by rapping him sharply on his crown with her knuckles. Slapping was a thing not known in such instances. Food, manners, furnishings, garden flowers, all were chosen carefully upon authority of Tito Davison, the technical adviser engaged by 20th Century-Fox for "Ramona."

Everything worn by Miss Young, Don Ameche, Kent Taylor, Pauline Frederick, Jane Darwell, Katherine De Mille, John Carradine, and the other players in the huge cast, in fact everything they said and the way they talked was checked by Davidson's watchful eyes and ears. If the ghost of some gallant don of early California should call upon the hacienda in the broad green valley in the shadow of Palomar Mountain east of San Diego, he would depart with the satisfied feeling that "Ramona" has been filmed with full and careful attention to historical accuracy.

"THESE THREE"

"These Three," Samuel Goldwyn's powerful new screen drama, brings Miriam Hopkins, Merle Oberon and Joel McCrea to the King's Theatre To-day.

The most talked-about story of the year, this Lillian Hellman screen play depicts how a whispering campaign growing out of a child's malicious lie nearly wrecked the lives of three innocent people.

The drama is laid in a small girls' school run by two young college women, Artha Doble (Miriam Hopkins), and Karen Wright (Merle Oberon). Both fall in love with Joseph Cardin, a young local doctor (Joel McCrea), but Martha, seeing that he loves Karen, conceals her affection.

Mary Tifford, the school's problem child, resenting punishment for wrong-doing, runs away from school, concocting a vicious lie involving the three adults as her reason. As a result Martha, Karen and Joe become the center of an ugly scandal. The school is lost and the romance is broken.

William Wyler directed "These Three." The photography is by Gregg Toland. The costumes were designed by Omar Kham and the sets by Richard Day. The picture is released thorough United Artists.

LOCAL RUGBY

Triangular Tourney Series Begin

CLUB BEAT NAVY

The Rugby Section of the Hong Kong Football Club opened their Triangular Tournament Rugby series with a win over the Royal Navy by two goals, two tries and a penalty goal (19 points) to two tries (6 points), at Causeway Bay on Saturday.

The Navy played with only 14 men for the major portion of the game. Lane pulled a thigh muscle in tackling Grieve. The Club were fully extended.

K. A. Munro was a success on the Club's left touchline and opened their account with two good tries.

Harvey, the Navy left-centre three-quarter, gave a splendid display.

Evans, the Navy stand-off-half, gave a fine display of touchniding. Bonnar and Butcher are still the Club's best half-back combination. Walkden was an absentee and his place was taken by W. H. Currie.

The Navy forwards were in fine form. Light, Hawkins, Miles and Coltart standing above the rest.

CLUB "A" WIN

In the "A" fifteen game preceding the Triangular Tournament match, the Club defeated an Army side by a penalty goal (3 points) to nil, in a scrappy encounter.

After a scoreless first-half, the Club were eventually rewarded when the Army were penalised for "feet-up" in the scrum and Henderson kicked a penalty goal for the only points of the match.

COLONY TENNIS TITLE

Hung And Mrs. Wilson Win Mixed Doubles

W. C. Hung and Mrs. Nora Wilson won the Open Mixed Doubles Lawn Tennis Championship of the Colony on Saturday at the Chinese Recreation Club when they beat H. D. Runjahn and Mrs. Chiu Chun-chiu, runners-up for the last two years, 6-2, 6-1.

The losers were no match for Hung and Mrs. Wilson, who concentrated on Mrs. Chiu, who experienced an off-day.

Runjahn was unable to pass Hung at the net. Mrs. Wilson's driving was good and she was deadly overhead. At the conclusion of the match, the cups and miniatures were presented to the winners and runners-up by Mr. H. S. Mok, the Chairman of the Club.

European Constable Convicted

Fined For Alleged Assault

SERGT. RIDDELL IN HOSPITAL

William Henry Spiers P. C., A78, was charged at the Central Magistracy before Mr. K. Keen on Saturday for assaulting Sgt. J. S. Riddell, and for misconducting himself as a police officer by behaving in a disorderly manner at the Central Police Station Barracks' Room.

Insp. Stimson informed his Worship that Sgt. Riddell was in hospital. On Thursday, Spiers was in the Central Police canteen from which place he went to the barracks, where he saw Sgt. Riddell in the Mess Room.

An argument ensued which ended in Spiers striking Sgt. Riddell in the left eye. It was alleged. Defendant left the Mess Room while others there tried to pacify him.

When accosted by Insp. Stimson who had seen informed of the incident Spiers denied it and became abusive. His revolver was taken from him.

The Inspector General of Police was informed and Spiers was detained.

Mr. K. W. Bidmead, Assistant Superintendent of Police stated that Spiers' record was fair, and that the case was not being pressed although his Worship was asked to take a fairly serious view.

Spiers was fined $100 on each count.

CLAIM FOR MONEY

Judgment For Plaintiff

Judgment for the plaintiff for the claim with costs was given by the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor, at the Supreme Court on Saturday morning in the case in which Mrs. So Yee Ka, alias So Sui Cheung, brought an action against Mrs. Chan Yat Cho, claiming $800 as balance due for a money loan.

The plaintiff was represented by Mr. J. M. D'Almada Remedios while Mr. M. W. Lo appeared for the defendant. The defence was an absolute denial that money was ever borrowed.

In the course of his judgment, his Lordship said that it was a very difficult case and the time taken to hear it was disproportionate to amount at stake owing to the issues involved. The parties bore every outward sign of respectability but one of the parties had deliberately committed perjury. After hearing Mrs. Tam, his Lordship was convinced that no lady of her social position would be induced to come into the witness box and tell a concocted story. He was also impressed by the amah's evidence for the plaintiff.

HON MR. J.P. BRAGA ROBBED

With all the efforts of the plain clothes men and the Military Police that attended the Race Meeting on Saturday, the Hon. Mr. J. P. Braga is still minus the $198 which was picked from his pocket by an unknown Chinese.

Mr. Braga is an enthusiastic attendant at horse races, and was making his way to purchase a few tickets in the Ewo Handicap, when the money was deftly picked from his pocket.

He saw the man run into the crowd, but it was much too thick for him to give chase.

Every available assistance was given him by the authorities but the culprit made good his escape.

LOCAL DIVORCE

In the Divorce Court on Saturday the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor, made absolute the "decree nisi" in the case of Mary Helen Middleton-Smith (petitioner) and James Clarence Middleton-Smith (respondent). The "decree nisi" was pronounced on August 8, 1936.

NEXT SESSIONS

The next Criminal Sessions will be held on Monday, December 14, at 10 a.m.

Earth Coolie Charged

CUSTOMS PASS INCIDENT

Chau Wah, 45, earth coolie, together with another not in custody, was brought before Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday charged with robbery on September 27.

It was alleged that the defendant and another man, on September 27, at Ngau Shu Wah, robbed Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Peacock of money and jewellery.

Inspector A. H. Elston asked for 48 hours remand which was granted.

It will be recalled that Mr. and Mrs. Peacock were walking with their two children along the path leading up to Customs Pass when they were accosted by two Chinese men, one armed with a knife and the other with a revolver. It was about noon.

Money and jewellery were demanded and some action on the part of Mr. Peacock apparently precipitated matters and the man with the gun fired.

The first bullet passed through Mr. Peacock's leg and the second bullet, which was a "dud" lodged in his coat.

Money and jewellery to the value of $200 was taken by the robbers before they decamped.

ARMED ROBBERY IN KOWLOON

Thief Overlooks Large Sum In Hip-Pocket

Kam Chui-ngam, 39, pawn broker, of 37, Tung Choi Street, ground floor, went nightly to the second hand store which he owned to collect the revenue.

The store was located on Shanghai Street, near the old Police Magistracy in Kowloon.

On Friday evening he collected $85 and placed the money in his left hand trousers pocket. He already had $416 in his hip pocket.

As he reached Sai Yuen Choi Street about 10.45 p.m., on his way home a man emerged from the shadows and put an arm around his shoulder while an automatic was pressed into his ribs. He was admonished in the Puntli dialect to "Don't speak. I only want money and not your life. Come with me!"

Having no alternative, Kam followed the stranger, and when they reached a lane another man approached them and while he was still covered with the pistol, he was divested of the $85 from his pocket. Before the men left, he was struck in the face.

His hip-pocket was not searched, and the $416 remained intact.

The assailants made good their escape.

Conditions on the whole were good although the wind at the longer distances varies much in intensity and direction, and caused considerable havoc in the case of some of the competitors' scores.

The winners of the nett and handicap spoons in the S.R. (b) Class were Sergeant Blandford, of the Royal Marines and Lieut. E. D. D. Wilson of the 1st Bn. Royal Ulster Rifles respectively.

There were insufficient entries to permit of a spoon being given for those using the S.R. (a) rifle, in which class the top scorer was C. S. M. Elvin of the 2nd Bn. East Lancashire Regiment.

Now that the Annual Dinner is over, great interest is being shown by members of the Association in new Clubhouse which is nearing completion on the Army Ranges at Kowloon City, and which will be opened by Mrs. A. W. Bartholomew on the afternoon of Wednesday week. To mark this occasion, a match will be fired between the following Services Forces and Rifle Club, to each of which invitations to participate are being sent, out to-day:—Royal Navy, Royal Marines, Regular Army, Royal Air Force, Hong Kong Volunteer Defence Corps, Hong Kong Police, Dockyard Rifle Club and Takoo Rifle Club. The winning team will be awarded silver spoons by the Association, and it should be noted that teams need not be composed entirely of individuals, or affiliated, members of the Association. The Conditions of Shooting will be the same as for the 2nd Stage of the "St. George's" at the Imperial Meeting at home, i.e. two sighting shots and ten to count, at 300 and 600 yards. Teams will be of eight, half of whom will fire with the S.R. (a) rifle and the remainder with the S.R. (b) weapon.

The shooting will start at 2 p.m. sharp in order that the competition may be completed before 4 o'clock at which time the Clubhouse will be opened. Tea will be served in the Clubhouse immediately following the opening.

Fort those members who are not in any of the teams above-mentioned, a Spoon and Practice Shoot will take place on the vacant targets and should it be necessary to use No. 3 Range for this purpose, owing to target accommodation on Nos. 1 and 2 Ranges being fully occupied, those taking part on that range will be required to fire at 600 yards first, in order that the road which gives access to the ranges may be open for those guests and members of the Association, who will be arriving later in the afternoon for the opening ceremony.

We are asked by the Honorary Secretary to state that owing to the rush of work which the Annual Dinner and the opening of the Clubhouse have entailed, he regrets that he has been unable to forward spoons to the winners at the last few shoots and membership cards to those who have joined recently, but hopes to clear off these arrears within the next fortnight.

The December issue of the "Bulletin," which will be published just before Christmas, will be a specially enlarged number containing the speeches made by all the speakers at the Annual Dinner as well as reproductions of the three photographs taken at that event, while there will also be a fully illustrated description of the opening of the Association's Clubhouse together with a full description of the accommodation provided in that building. In addition, the scores made up-to-date in the Association's "Thirty Roll" will be published, as well as lists of the latest handicaps which, it is of interest to note, have now been given to nearly 300 members. The leading scores made yesterday morning, to which reference has been made above, are as follows:—

SUCCESSFUL
GARDEN FETEOpened By Lady
CaldecottKOWLOON TONG
ANGELICAN CHURCH

The Third Annual Garden Fete of the Kowloon Tong Anglican Church, which was held on Saturday afternoon in aid of the Christ Church Building Fund, was officially opened by Lady Caldecott, who was accompanied by His Excellency the Governor and Captain W. J. R. Cragg, A.D.C.

GUARD OF HONOUR

On arrival, His Excellency and Lady Caldecott and Captain Cragg were welcomed by Mr. R. Ashton Hill, the Pastor-in-charge of the Kowloon Tong Anglican Church, while members of the 12th Kowloon Wolf Cubs (K.T.A.C.), 6th Kowloon Wolf Cubs (D.B.S.) and 1st Kowloon Boy Scouts (D.B.S.) formed a guard of honour.

A large number of visitors attended the opening, during which Mr. Hill said:—

"Throughout this year, the erection of the new church has occupied a central place in our thoughts and in our prayers. The first pile was driven on February 11 last. The foundation stone was laid on March 31 last, and now we have a building which, from the outside, looks like a church, although inside it still looks like a builder's yard. We hope that very early in 1937 it will be complete and we shall be welcoming you at the Hallowing—perhaps even at the consecration of Christ Church, Kowloon Tong."

$9,000 MORE

It is appropriate, therefore, that the entire proceeds of this Fete should be given to the Building Fund. Nine thousand dollars are still required but we trust that with your generous help, we may reduce that to-day, to 8,000, perhaps to 7,000."

Lady Caldecott then declared the bazaar open and was presented with a sheaf of African daisies by Miss Bonty Betram, and a bag of lavender on which were embroidered "May The Lord Be Ever with You" in Chinese characters. The latter were made by the senior girls of the Victoria Home.

STALL WORKERS

Stalls were provided by the following:—Woolens: Mesdames Guest, Jex and Tinson; Fancy Goods: Mesdames Fisher and Hall; Lavender: Mesdames Fletcher and Scotcher; Toys: Mesdames Bertram and Perry; Home Produce: Mesdames Fenner Hayes and Sullivan; Plants: Mrs. Goddard; Fruit: Misses Rodgers and Allen and Mrs. Tesorieri; Flowers: Miss P. Anderson; Sweets: Mrs. Berreux and Mr. Stapleton and Wolf Cubs; Gramophone Records: Mr. M. Barton.

The Sunday School Stalls were organised by Mrs. Booker, while Misses D. Lee, L. Poon, P. Crofton, J. Smith, J. Matthews, V. Holland, B. Sullivan, V. Sissels and Mr. E. C. Cunningham were in charge of the Fish Pond.

The Bran Tube were in charge of Mesdames J. C. L. Wong and N. Turnbull, and Misses A. and G. Sue, V. Jex, N. Smith, N. Jones and D. Freeman ran the Book Stall. Wendy's House was in the capable hands of Mesdames L. L. Nash and N. Grady.

The various side-shows were organised by the Men's Fellowship. The Men's Stall was in charge of the V.D.M.A. Group and organised by Mesdames Anderson and Sykes, while Miss K. Mow Fung and Miss M. Willis took charge of the Tea Room, which was run by the Women's Communicants' Guild.

DUKE OF KENT'S
CAKEAn Auction That
Raised £2,000SIR EDGAR BRITTEN'S
MEMOIRS

How the Duke of Kent raised £2,000 for Welsh unemployed miners during a voyage in the Berengaria is among the many stories told in "A Million Ocean Miles," by the late Sir Edgar Britten, published recently (Hutchinson, 4s. 6d.), states the "Morning Post."

Sir Edgar, who was the first commander of the Queen Mary, died on Oct. 28 after collapsing in his cabin on board the liner.

In December, 1928, the Duke, who as Prince George was then serving in the Navy, had to hurry home from the West Indies because of his father's serious illness. He completed the journey to England in the Berengaria, of which Sir Edgar was then captain.

On the last night of the trip the Royal passenger celebrated his birthday, and when he took his place in the dining saloon he found a massive birthday cake on the table. Instantly he decided that the cake should be auctioned and the proceeds given in aid of Welsh miners, large numbers of whom were unemployed.

£20 A SLICE

After dinner the auction took place, and the cake was "knocked down" for £200 to a Birmingham passenger, who at once had it put up for sale again. Lord Weir was the next purchaser for a similar amount, and he, too, handed it back again.

Then Prince George had the cake cut into slices, which were sold at from £5 to £20 each.

"Make my husband buy one," said a woman passenger to the purser. Grudgingly the husband consented. "But you tell the Prince," he stipulated, "I have bought a slice of his cake and ask him to autograph my menu card for me."

"Certainly, sir," said the purser quickly. "That will cost you an extra £5." Prince George, on being approached, signed the card and remarked: "Take in as many more as you can, purser—but double the price."

When no more slices were left the crumbs were auctioned, the last of them being sold for £3. The total sum realised was £2,062 13s. 4d.

A LORD DAWSON STORY

One of Sir Edgar's amusing stories relates to a visit paid to the Berengaria's Turkish bath by an elderly passenger.

He told Mason, the attendant, that he had come because he felt rather run down after a strenuous lecturing tour in America. Mason, eager to demonstrate the restorative properties of his Turkish bath, carried out his duties thoroughly, explaining volubly to the patient the utility of hot baths and of the closing of the pores that was effected by a cold shower. As he massaged he delivered a little lecture on anatomy and dwelt on the function of each muscle.

Presently a bell-boy poked his head into the sacred domain. It was warm work massaging in the hot atmosphere of a Turkish bath and Mason, who is inclined to be irascible, does not like to be disturbed.

"Lord Dawson of Penn! Wire-less message for Lord Dawson of Penn," shouted the bell-boy, looking at both Mason and his patient inquiringly.

"Get to hell out of this," shouted Mason fiercely. "We have no dam Lords down here."

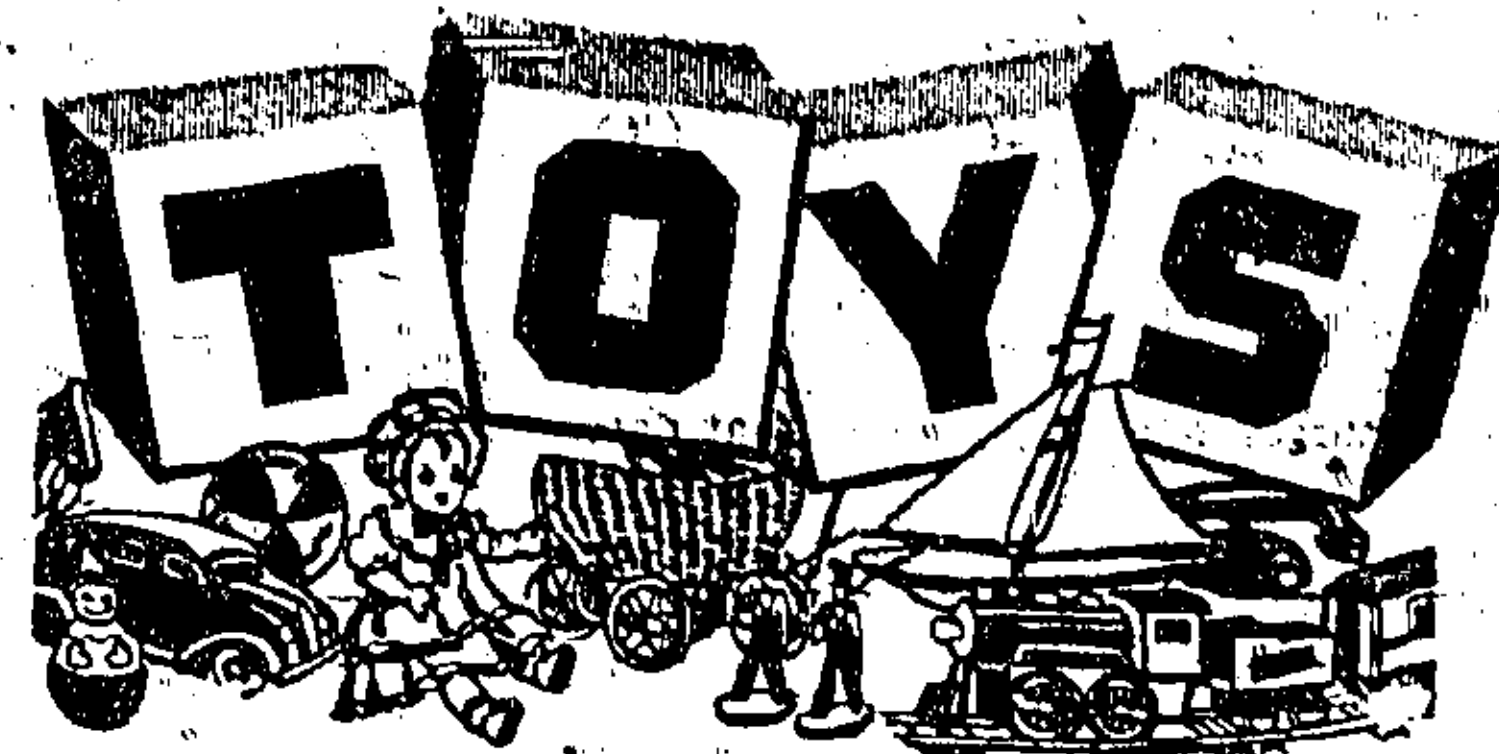

The boy shifted—quickly. "Excuse me," said a quiet voice from the slab: "D'you know, Mason, I have an idea that message is meant for me."

Mason tells this story against himself. He had delivered his lecture on anatomy to the King's physician, Lord Dawson of Penn. The volume is a splendid memento of a great sailor's career.

MR. CHURCHILL ON THE PRESS

'Never Let Me Down In 40 Years'

Mr. Winston Churchill, speaking at the festival of the News-vendors' Benevolent and Provident Institution, at the Connaught Rooms, London, recently, said that in a free community, the freedom of the Press only meant that the Press was transferred from a censorship of Government officials to the censorship of public opinion, states the 'London Morning Post.'

In order to have a really dangerous Press, one had got to have a forbidden Press. Forbidden or vetoed pamphlets were agencies which had caused serious dangers to large communities.

People in this country could live their lives with a greater measure of freedom and respect for their own feelings than was the case in any other society which had existed in the world, and the Press had played a great part in that.

After paying a tribute to the honour of Journalism, adding that he had never been let down in nearly forty years, Mr. Churchill continued: 'The manner in which you report is shocking. You take a speech; you reduce it to one-eighth of its length; then you put it in the third person, which makes it considerably longer and twice as unintelligible; you cut out one sentence in three in order to adjust the space, and send the result up to the editorial department, where it serves as the foundation for a leading article on the decay of modern oratory' (Laughter).

It was announced that the Festival subscriptions had amounted to £7,108, and that, through the Chairman, Mr. Rupert Beckett, a friend had made the sum up to £7,500.

FACTS ABOUT DEATHS

Statistics are fascinating as well as informative, and the four hundred pages of the medical part of the Registrar General's Statistical Review for Britain for last year are full of information for the curious.

It is possible to find in detail what exactly is meant by saying that England is a healthier country than it used to be, and also why it is not so healthy as it should be. Thus there has been a steady decrease in the number of deaths from infectious and parasitic diseases—there were nearly two thousand deaths per million of the population in 1900 and in 1935 there were 635; measles, diphtheria, and so on have decreased in the same way, and last year there were no deaths from smallpox.

The most striking contrast is in the increase of mortality from cancer—the figures per million rising from rather over three hundred in 1850 to 1,001 in 1935.

Useful tables deal with mortality by regions, and make it possible to see how badly built towns affect the health of their population—the infant mortality in St. Helens is treble that of Oxford, for example.

Who would have guessed that the age at which it is commonest for men to die is seventy-two, for spinsters seventy-five, for widows seventy-eight, and for married women sixty-three?

The figures dealing with violent deaths (of which there were twenty thousand of one form or another last year) are also interesting. More than twice as many men kill themselves as women, and the commonest age for them to do so is round about sixty. Coal gas remains the most popular method.

However, suicides reached a peak in 1932, and since then there has been each year a considerable decrease. It is only deaths on the road that keep the number of violent deaths so high.

MANDARIN DIALECT IN THE ARMY

Canton, Dec. 6.
It has been decided by the provincial military authorities that all officers and soldiers must use the Mandarin dialect, when conversing with each other.

All instructors of the Fourth Route Army are using the Mandarin dialect, and in accordance with the creed of the New Life Movement, it is expected that the Mandarin dialect will soon become universal.

Accordingly, a general order has been issued to all army commands that in future, no matter whether in speaking or issuing commands, only Mandarin dialect must be used by the officers and soldiers of the army, and the use of the different local dialects is strictly forbidden.

A NATION SHOULDERS THE WHEEL!

No More Unskilled Labour In Germany

A FUTURE OPENED TO ALL

'After all, no people should be judged by its creeds. The real test of what a nation is worth to the world is what it achieves. What really matters is the result attained, not the route by which its goal is reached.'

This was the thought that kept recurring when, on October 10, one witnessed what, to a stranger in Germany, must have seemed one of the most singular ceremonies imaginable. It took place at the engineering works of the Allgemeine Elektrizitäts-Gesellschaft in Henningsdorf where about 3,500 people are employed making steam and electric locomotives, dynamo-wagons, motor lorries, autogenous welding machines, automatic railway tractors, electric ice-chests and cable-insulation.

So Henningsdorf is an industrial centre in the literal sense of the word. But you would never think so. For to get there you take a run by car for about half an hour from Berlin. And you find Henningsdorf in the heart of pine-forest. About 10,000 people live in the vicinity of the works. But you find no noise, no dust, no poverty, so inseparable from the conventional idea of a factory.

DEEP DEVOTION

About 500 people had assembled on the crisp autumn morning to take part in what—in all essentials—both in ritual and spirit, resembled a religious service. Beyond all question the mental attitude of those present was one of deep devotion. The temple in which this ceremony was held was a machine shop, just built and equipped, and about to be dedicated to its lofty purpose—the training of youth.

Just prior to the opening of the doors, the whole company—comprising about 200 apprentices in smart blue overalls, foreman, works managers, members of the board of directors of the A.E.G., delegates from the civic authorities of Henningsdorf, representatives of the German Workers' Front, the Hitler Youth, the SS and the SA, and a sprinkling of journalists from the technical press. Hardly a word was exchanged. Punctually at 10 a.m. all present assembled round the flagpole outside the new building, three apprentices slowly hoisted the national flag, everybody stood at the salute, the national anthem was sung and the preliminary service was over. No fuss, no speeches, no pretence. Just an act of devotion as natural and as spontaneous as that of raising one's hat on meeting an acquaintance in the street.

HOUSE OF YOUTH

Inside, one found the 'House of Youth' equipped with a vast array of machines—lathes, milling, welding, tool-cutting, drilling, riveting, and slotting-machines of all kinds. Down the middle of the hall was a gangway. On both sides of it, stools had been arranged in rows in among the machines. At the end remote from the door, by which one entered, was a dais, surmounted by a reading-desk from which, subsequently, all the speeches were delivered, but which looked for all the world like a pulpit. The dais was tastefully and festively decorated with fir and spruce, twigs and festoons of greenery. Behind the dais, to right and left, was a staircase leading to the gallery above where there were more machines and work-benches—the accommodation upstairs and down being enough for about 200 apprentices. At the level of the gallery was the portrait of Adolf Hitler, likewise adorned with garlands. But the feature that riveted attention was a simple, text, painted in bold, black characters on a white background 'All for Germany.'

ALL FOR GERMANY

And that was the text from which the six speakers spoke in succession. Short speeches—one of them not more than three sentences. But each, fraught with some profound message. No pomp, no boasting, no self-praise. Just the plain story of what this new institution was for, why it had been built, what it meant to the life of the nation, how it was to be used, what it was expected to accomplish, what responsibilities would

If Gossip We Must

(BY "ANNETTE")

The farewell cocktail party given by Col. J. C. Brewer and Officers of the Punjab Regiment, at the Peninsula Hotel last Thursday was a marvellous party and quite one of the largest that Hong Kong has ever known I should imagine. They occupied the whole of the top of the Peninsula Hotel. In the Roof Garden everybody congregated, and there was also the bar. The Rose Room was set aside for dancing. Everybody was there, and that enormous room was so crowded at times that it was practically impossible to move, and quite out of the question to try and find anybody. At the far end of the room was a most appetising display of food, and the table was beautifully decorated. The food was attacked with vigour and what a joy it was to eat. H.E. the Governor, Lady Caldecott, Captain Cragg and Rear Admiral Sedgwick were present. Mrs. Sedgwick is still away on her tour. Mrs. Campbell assisted Col. Brewer to receive the guests and acted as hostess for him. It is quite impossible to mention people who were there, as the majority of Hong Kong attended. I myself have never seen such a large, cocktail party here and it was a great success too. I only hope our hosts enjoyed it as much as we did. It will be sad when they leave Hong Kong shortly but we wish them "bon voyage" and their farewell party will linger in our memories.

ANOTHER PARTY

Another "good-bye" party of the week was given by Commander Loly and Officers of H.M.S. Bruce, on Friday. They will be leaving us shortly for Singapore, but I gather that the majority of the Officers will be returning here in a few months for the summer. The party was a great success, as is always a party given by the "Bruce." There were a number of new faces in the party. There seems to be a large change of faces in Hong Kong this winter and at most of the parties one seems to meet lots of new people. The McAvoy's were present; the Hayters also. The Weltons attended with Mrs. Passy who left on Saturday for India. She will be much missed by everybody. Later on Friday evening all three were to be seen in the Hong Kong Hotel with Ian Macgregor, who also was at the "Bruce's" Party. Mrs. Cavanagh Mainwaring, in powder blue and a short white fur coat looked pretty. Isobel Goode in royal blue taffeta with a short coat to match was on board with her mother and grandmother. Heather and Barbara Hance arrived late and stayed for a short while. Mrs. Addis in black, with a touch of white was most attractive. Mrs. Harrison wore a striking cocktail ensemble and arrived with her husband from another party. The Becks were there, Mrs. Beck looking extremely pretty in white shawl, with hat to match. Mrs. Davies was another pretty attired person there. Captain and Mrs. Coltart and Commander and Mrs. Beever were enjoying themselves. Mr. Erik Nelson, Mr. McEwan, "Tiny" Munroe and his even taller friend Mr. Copeland were others present.

FAR EASTERN BREVITIES

The Shanghai Japanese community is in the throes of a financial and trade boom, the 'Shanghai Nichi-Nichi' reported recently. This business revival was ascribed by the journal to the good agricultural crops, which resulted in large purchases of Japanese made goods, and to the approach of the year-end period of free-spending.

Deposits have been climbing steadily and rapidly at the Shanghai and Hankow banks, Japanese institutions, both of which also reported increased demand for yen. Galety, according to the journal, is also returning to the 'neon-light' district of Hongkong, whose customers had been scared away by the recurrent murderous attacks upon Japanese nationals. The approach of the "bonus season," the 'Nichi-Nichi' said, means increased revenues for establishments catering to entertainment.

CANTON-HANKOW RAILWAY

Responsible spokesmen at the Ministry of Railways in Nanking say that there is no plan just now to connect the Canton-Hankow Railway, and the Canton-Kowloon line. The present extension of the Kuang-tung section of the Canton-Hankow line is to reach as far as Whampoa only, says the 'Shinwen-pao.' The local Chinese press, however, pays particular attention to the reports that two Hong Kong British firms have signed contracts with the Canton authorities for the improvement of the water works and the extension of the bus service.

BENEFIT PERFORMANCE

Dr. Mei Lan-fang, the actor, is giving a two-day performance in Tsimshai for the benefit of troops on the Suiyuan front. An invitation has been received by Dr. Mei from Dr. Hsuing who is now in London, to pay another visit there. While it is not known by Dr. Mei whether or not he could be of any service to Dr. Hsuing, he intends visiting America and Europe next autumn when he will have an opportunity to consult with him.

fall on those who passed through it.

For the institute not only aims at teaching the technical fundamentals of a trade. It also develops character. The firm inculcates ideals of comradeship, loyalty, honesty, straightforwardness, faithfulness to duty, courage, sincerity, sense of responsibility. Parents are encouraged to come see their children at work in the institute. Social evenings are frequently arranged where parents meet one another, and where the directors of the firm come into personal touch with the parents, and where apprentices and employees sit at the same tables.

Another extraordinary feature of this work is that the technical and commercial employees of the firm are not divided into two camps. The A.E.G. declares that those who have to sell the 1001 products it makes must have technical knowledge of how the things are made and what they are used for. So the commercial staff has also to pass through courses of theoretical and practical instruction.

OPIUM SUPPRESSION IN THE CITY

'Official' Divans Inaugurated

In order to enforce effectively the second step of opium suppression in Canton, Director Li Kit-chi, of the Provincial Police Bureau, issued a notice last month, in accordance with the instruction of the Municipal Opium Suppression Committee, that all the unregistered opium dens should be completely closed before the end of November.

To facilitate some of the opium addicts who are badly hit from breaking their habit in so short a time, the Municipal Opium Suppression Committee has allowed to open some opium sale and smoking place in inner streets of the city and in Honam temporarily. The new opium divans, according to the scheme, are not to exceed the number of 200.

It is learned that Mr. Lo Shun-hang, has been appointed by the Municipal Opium Suppression Committee, as the chief sponsor for taking charge of the affairs of the new opium sale and smoking places.

PUBLIC TASTE IN PICTURES

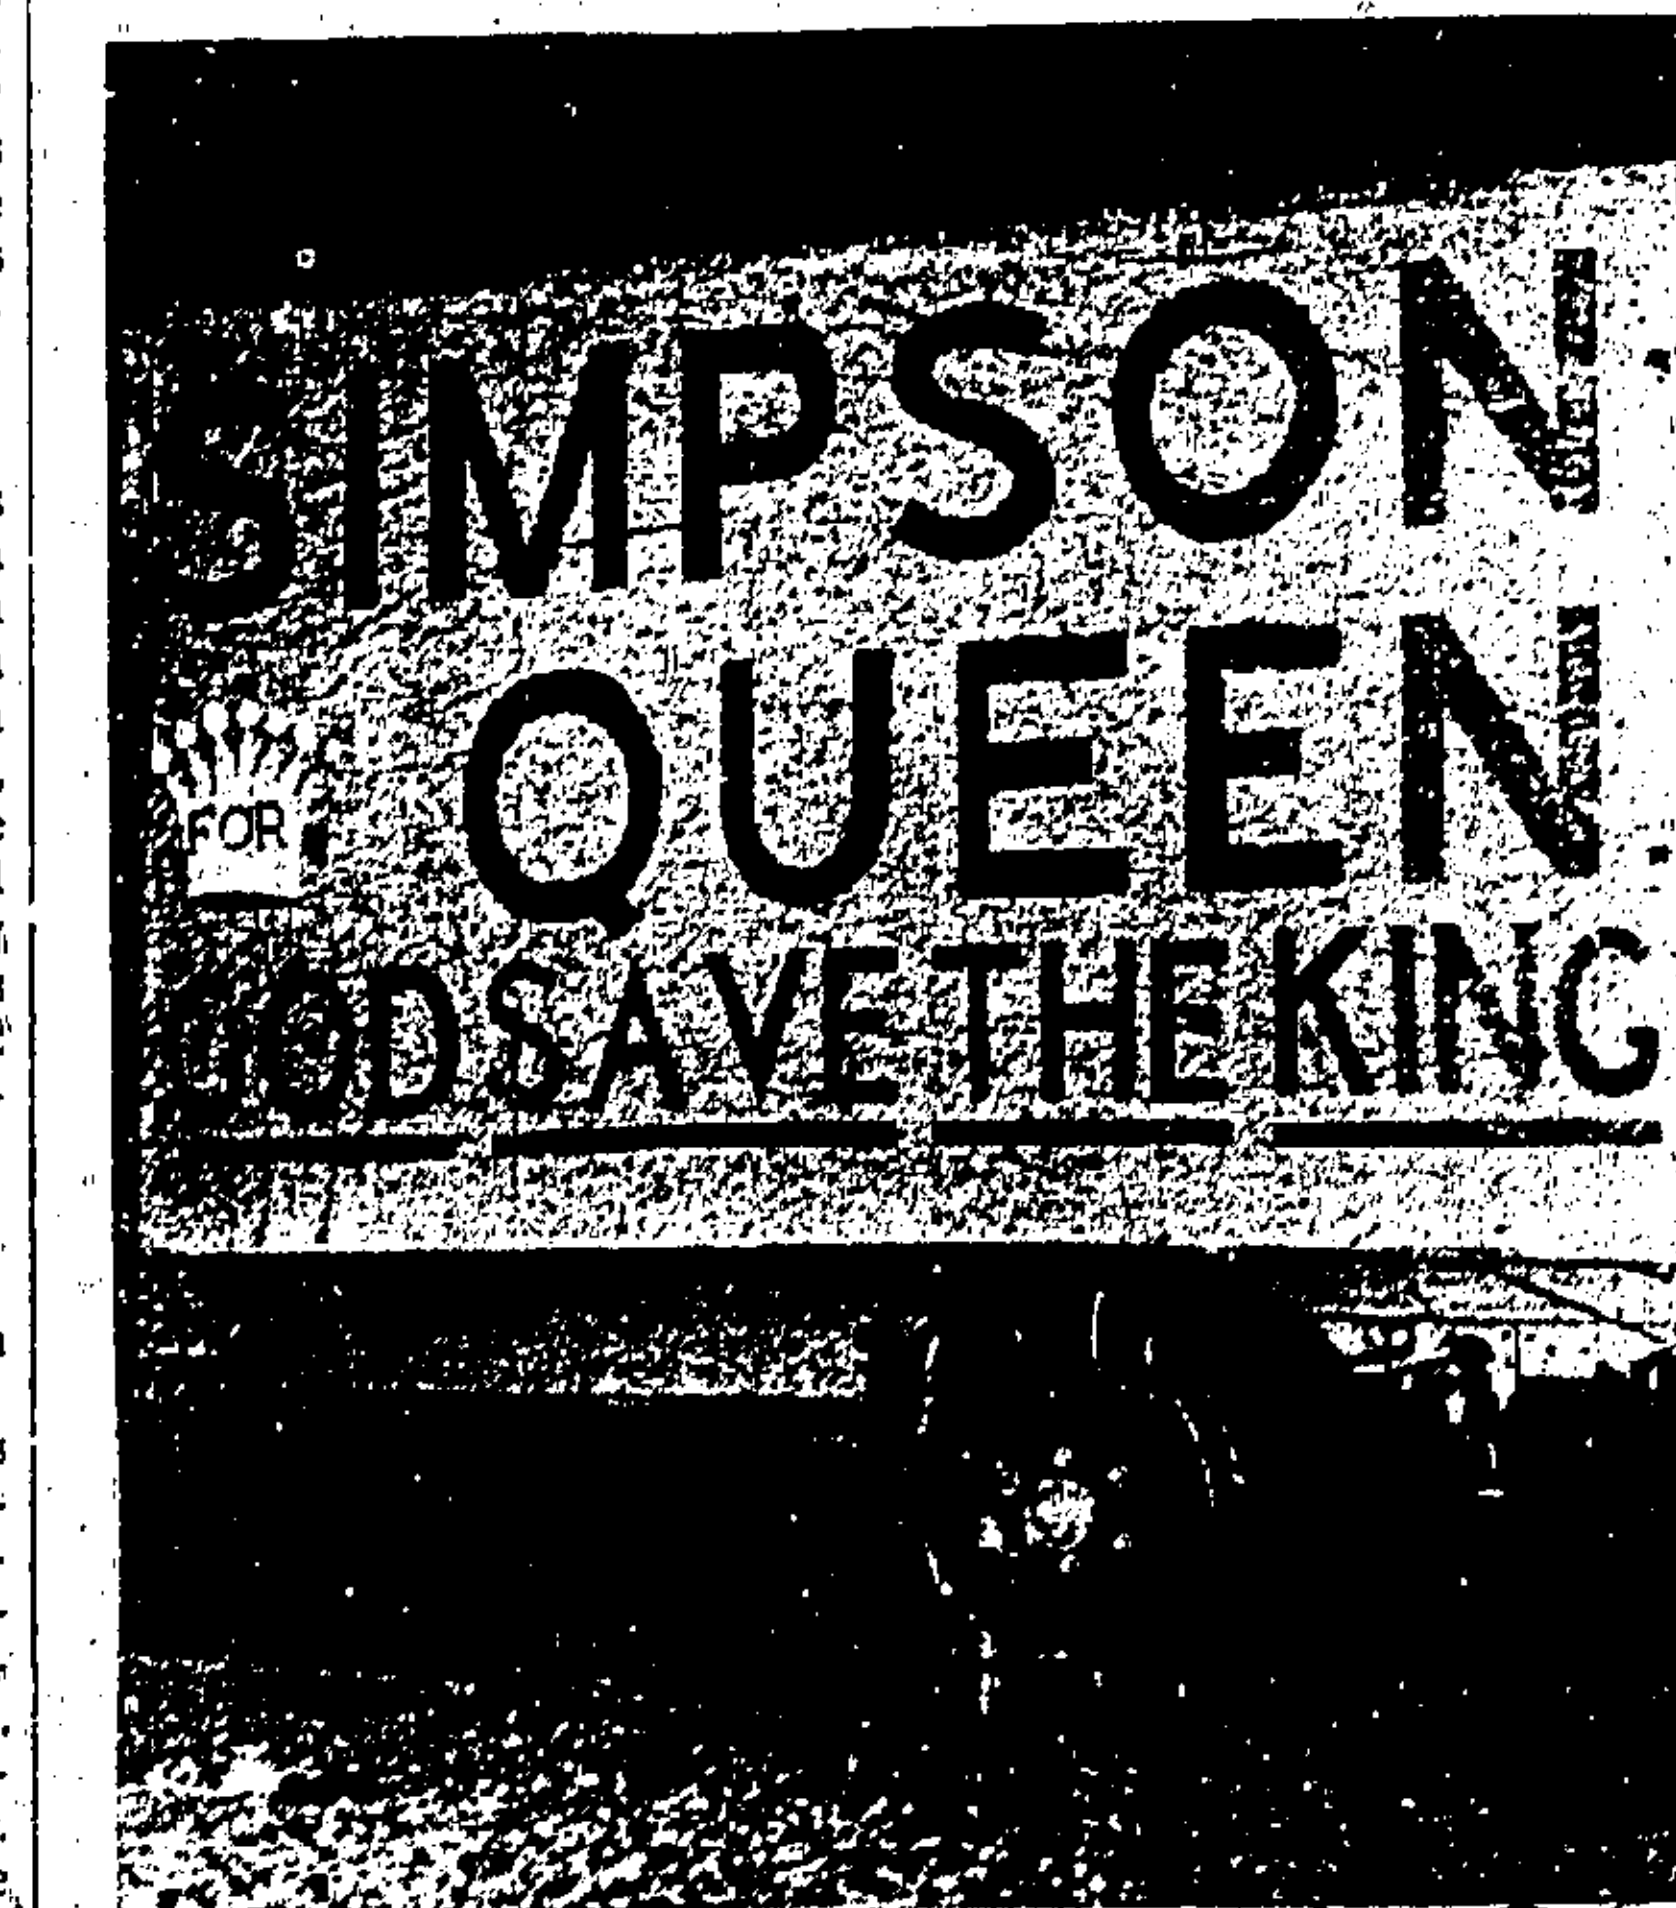

Masterpieces Appreciated

Sir Philip Sassoon, M.P., Under Secretary for Air, in opening the Liverpool Autumn Exhibition, said that the attendances at exhibitions of famous pictures which he had held in his own London residence in aid of the Royal Northern Hospital, had convinced him that people in this country were far more interested in art than had been realised.

He believed that in the old days those who were responsible for the purchases in our public galleries, would frequently buy some sugary Viennese stepping in or out of her bath, or some maudlin gorging piece of sentimentalism, and excuse it by saying that that was exactly the kind of picture which the public would like.

He thought that the pictures which the public liked and admired to-day were exactly the ones that those who were supposedly best able to speak on the subject would acclaim as the great masterpieces of modern painting.

Contempt And Ridicule

Although the British Press had, until last week, imposed a voluntary censorship upon itself regarding the King and Mrs. Ernest Simpson, yet the Press of the United States of America paid characteristic disregard to the ethical code observed by British journalists, and for some considerable time the Yankee newspapers have been plastered with glaring headlines which, for the most part, treat this whole affair with contempt and ridicule.

Apparently everywhere in the U.S.A. this subject has raised a "big laugh" and this photograph, re-produced from an American newspaper of wide circulation, will convey some idea of the depth and extent of the contempt and ridicule which some foreigners manifest in words and deeds expressive of their feelings.

We re-print the caption as it appeared in the American publication:—
COLLEGE HUMOUR. Students at Reed thought up this objection-travesty for their quadrennial political rally Friday night. The boom to extend American influence to Buckingham Palace came as a hilarious surprise to all but a few participants.

VIOLENT FIGHTING AROUND MADRID

VANTAGE POINTS CHANGE HANDS

Seven Hundred Casualties In Pozuelo Sector

London, December 5. The British constitutional crisis has pushed the Spanish civil war to the background in the news, but despatches reaching London from opposing headquarters agree that ferocious fighting is proceeding in which there have been heavy casualties, while vantage points around Madrid continue to change hands frequently. Government quarters claim an advance at the Alava front, and the insurgents say they are progressing at Guadalupe front. Seven hundred Government troops are reported killed and wounded in the Pozuelo sector.

From Madrid the Defence Committee reports violent fighting throughout the night on the Madrid front. The attackers were repulsed energetically at all points.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

ITALIAN BLACKSHIRTS LAND

Gibraltar, Dec. 5. Two thousand five hundred Italian Blackshirts disembarked at Algeiras yesterday to join the insurgent forces according to reliable information reaching here. They landed from a ship flying no flag and escorted by a gunboat.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

FINNISH LEGATION SEARCHED

Paris, Dec. 4. Four hundred sympathisers with the Nationalists, who had sought refuge in an annex of the Finnish Legation, were arrested by the Reds, who, disregarding the rights of extra-territoriality enjoyed by the Legation, forced their way into the building and thoroughly searched the premises, according to a report by the "Temps".

The excuse of the Red authorities was that two bombs had allegedly been thrown from the windows of the building on passing militia men, and had seriously wounded a child in the street in front of the Legation.

As it was further stated that a large quantity of rifles and munition had been found in the premises, the Finnish Minister, upon learning of this immediately declared that he was holding himself at the disposal of the police for investigation.—Transocean News Service.

BRITISH NATIONALS IN MADRID

London, Dec. 4. The British Charge d'Affairs in Madrid on Friday warned those British nationals still in Madrid to leave at once, since the British Legation would probably be closed in the near future, according to reports here from Spain.—Transocean News Service.

NO INSURANCE ON SPANISH CARGO

London, Dec. 4. Lloyd's Insurance Society have just issued new regulations, whereby the insurance of cargo from Spain, Spanish Morocco or the Balearic Islands against war or insurrection can no longer be considered. Hitherto such risks were insured at a rate of 314%. Each insurance firm must therefore now decide from case to case what risk it is prepared to cover. Hitherto it was only the case with freight to Spanish ports, while the voyage from Spanish ports could be covered by open policy.—Transocean News Service.

DANUBE COMMITTEE

Vienna, Dec. 4. The International Danube Committee will assemble here in the middle of December, according to the semi-official paper "Reichspost," which adds that only nine countries will be represented on the Committee, since Germany will not attend the conference. The non-participation of the German delegation is, of course the logical consequence of the recent declaration of the German Government establishing sovereignty over the German inland waterways.—Transocean News Service.

FRANCE TO AID BRITAIN

Against Unprovoked Aggression

London, Dec. 5. The spontaneity and completeness of the assurances given by M. Delbos, French Foreign Minister, that all the forces of France by land, sea and air would be immediately used for defence of Britain against an unprovoked aggression has been received here with great satisfaction.

It is noted that the full definition of the French attitude by M. Delbos like that offered in regard to the British attitude by the Foreign Secretary, Mr. Anthony Eden, in recent speeches is in accord with the March agreement and that there is nothing exclusive in either statement.

M. Delbos added that so far as the new Locarno pact was concerned, France like Britain wanted nothing better than to see Germany enter a system of security on the same footing and with the same assurances and it is felt here that M. Delbos' statement can have no other than good results on the European position generally.—British Wireless.

BLUM'S CABINET

Paris, Dec. 5. After a dramatic speech which was greeted by violent cheers on the part of Government parties but, in silence from the Communists, M. Leon Blum was given a confidence vote by 350 to 171, the Communists abstaining from voting.

It is understood that when M. Blum learned that the Communists were not voting he desired to resign, but he was pressed to remain.

The situation is by no means easy and the Government position is extremely difficult.—Reuter.

SYNTHETIC BENZINE FROM COAL

Berlin, Dec. 5. The first synthetic benzene from Ruhr coal will come into the market 1937. This news, published on Friday, marks another milestone on the path of the development, whereby Germany is proceeding to free herself from dependence on foreign supplies of indispensable raw materials.

The Ruhr Chemie AG, the industrial undertaking which makes the synthetic benzene from coal in the Ruhr region uses the Fischer-Tropsch process, which has been capitalised very highly the last few months to attain practical economic results at the earliest possible moment. The Ruhr Chemie AG, whose original enterprise was the fixation of atmospheric nitrogen, is mainly responsible for the development of the Fischer-Tropsch process from the laboratory to the industrial stage.

A number of German concerns in the Ruhr, one of which is the Ruhr Benzine AG, were granted licenses to make synthetic benzene by this method, most of the plants erected in consequence being now in full swing and already delivering crude products.

The plants for carrying out the refining process begin work at the end of this month so that a product equivalent to imported natural benzene will be on sale early next year.—Transocean News Service.

VIENNESE DISTRESS ALLEVIATION

Vienna, Dec. 4. A sombre picture of Viennese distress was given by the Director of the welfare department to the Municipal Department. The report declares that every fifth person in Vienna is receiving assistance from public funds directly or indirectly.

Although the number of births declined steadily in Vienna during the last few years, the number of babies for whose support the municipal authorities are rendering assistance has risen from 22,500 in 1931 to 41,000 this year. The report stresses that a welfare organisation in Vienna is now being formed with a view to meeting the requirements of "the family," which is one of the pillars of the new Austrian state.—Transocean News Service.

MARRIAGE OF PRINCESS

Great Event In Holland

["Hong Kong Daily Press" Special] The Hague, Dec. 5. The entire Dutch nation is looking forward with the tensest expectation to January 7, the date set for the wedding of Princess Juliana and Prince Bernhard von Lippe-Biesterfeld.

Grandstands are now being erected along a five-kilometre route which the bridal procession will follow through this city, and it is reported that 80,000 florins have already been received through advance sales of grandstand tickets.

Although prices as high as 100 florins are being demanded and paid for window seats along the route, available seats are practically exhausted.

A special organisation has been created to final quarters for visitors on that day, but hotels in the city as well as in the neighbouring seaside resort of Scheveningen have been already booked to full capacity.—Transocean News Service.

VISIT TO BERLIN

The Hague, Dec. 4. Princess Juliana and her fiancé, Prince Bernhard von Lippe-Biesterfeld will leave here for Berlin on Saturday to visit Prince Bernhard's mother.—Transocean News Service.

PLANE CRASH IN FRENCH ALPS

Bodies Of Six Victims Recovered

["Hong Kong Daily Press" Special] Geneva, Dec. 5. The identity of a plane which—as previously reported by Transocean—crashed on a glacier in the French Alps, southeast of Geneva, has now been established as that of the Lufthansa plane Ash, which was making an excursion flight over Monte Blanc region at the time of the accident.

Fears entertained for the lives of the plane's six occupants unfortunately proved well-grounded, for search parties sent out by the French authorities succeeded in only recovering their dead bodies. Four of the victims are Germans, while the other two are Spanish.—Transocean News Service.

AMERICAN KILLED IN HONAN

Body Being Conveyed To Hankow

Hankow, Dec. 5. The body of Mr. George Hobart Newsome is expected here tomorrow morning. There are still no details regarding the murder. It transpires that Chinese robbers entered the Hsuehchang Tobacco Co.'s premises and stole $4,000, and also shot dead a Chinese clerk and a guard.—Reuter.

Mr. Newsome, aged 40, American adviser to the National Government and manager of the Hsuehchang Tobacco Company, a Government concern, was shot dead at Hsuehchang, Honan, by unknown gunmen on Friday. He leaves a widow and 11-year-old daughter.

The motive of the murderers is unknown, but it was stated that Mr. Newsome had received threatening letters. The Chinese manager of the company was murdered at Hsuehchang last year, when it was commonly believed he was a victim of a feud arising from the activities of the Government in the tobacco trade.

GERMAN AIRWOMAN'S FLIGHT

Belgrade, Dec. 4. The well known German woman flier, Willy Behnorn-Rosemeyer arrived here on Friday 12.55 GMT on her flight from Berlin to Cape Town, having covered the stretch from Berlin in 4 hours 10 minutes. She will continue the flight on Saturday.—Transocean News Service.

CHINESE GUNBOAT FOR TSINGTAO

Wei-hai-wei, Dec. 5. The Chinese gunboat Chen Hai, with 500 naval ratings on board, has gone to Tsingtao, in view of the increasing gravity of the cotton mill strike there.—Reuter.

Mr. Baldwin left Downing Street by car at 11.15. He visited the Queen at Marlborough House before returning to Downing Street.

Ministers who also attended the meeting were Mr. Neville Chamberlain, Sir Samuel Hoare, Mr. Oliver Stanley, and Sir Donald Somervell.

It is understood that in a position of serious national concern it is an advantage and sometimes necessary for the Premier to consult some of his colleagues apart from a full meeting of the Cabinet. It was such a meeting for consultation that was held this morning.—Reuter.

TIME AND PATIENCE

London, Dec. 5. Mr. Winston Churchill has issued a statement pleading for time and patience. The nation must realise the character of the constitutional issue. There is no question of a conflict between the King and Parliament which has not been consulted nor allowed to express any opinion. The question is whether the King is to abdicate upon the advice of his Ministers. No such advice has been tendered to the sovereign.

We are confronted with a wish by the sovereign to perform an act which in no circumstances can be accomplished in nearly five months and may quite conceivably for various reasons never be accomplished. That the supreme sacrifice of abdication and potential exile should be demanded does not find support in the constitution. No ministry has authority to advise abdication and only the most serious of parliamentary processes could raise the issue in decisive form. The Cabinet has no right to prejudice the question without ascertaining the will of Parliament.

Mr. Churchill suggests this could be done by messages from the King to Parliament and by addresses by both Houses.—Reuter.

FORCING ABDICATION

Sir Stafford Cripps, Labour member for East Bristol, issued a statement at Hanley in which he agreed with the Government attitude as expressed by Mr. Baldwin, but he pointed out that the advice was based on the nation's political interests and not on personal or sectarian viewpoints.

"I do not see sufficient reason for forcing abdication, nor do I believe that the country desires the issue to be forced to that extreme. It is only fair to the King once we have decided he is bound to accept the Ministers' advice, but we should realise that the responsibility for forcing abdication will be upon the Government."—Reuter.

MRS. SIMPSON AT CANNES

Paris, Dec. 5. Mrs. Simpson is expected to reach Cannes by car at midnight. An official of the British secret police arrived in Cannes on Saturday forenoon, where, with two inspectors of the French police, they undertook the supervision of the villa belonging to Mrs. Rogers, where Mrs. Simpson will stay.

Mrs. Simpson's luggage, consisting of thirteen trunks, arrived on Saturday in Cannes by the Blue Express, and was at once delivered to Mrs. Rogers' villa.—Transocean News Service.

ARRIVAL AT VILLA

Cannes, Dec. 6. Mrs. Simpson, who was reported to have left her hotel at Blois at 3.20 on Saturday morning for an unknown destination, arrived at 11.35 p.m. at Villa Lou Vieil, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman L. Rogers.—Reuter.

PRESS INVASION

Nice, Dec. 6. Two policemen are guarding the entrance to the garden of the Rogers' villa and nobody is allowed to enter. The villa has been besieged for two days by pressmen and photographers from Paris and London, all vainly trying to get an interview. It is practically certain that Mrs. Simpson or her friends will not say anything for publication. Stories that Mrs. Simpson had given interviews en route to Cannes are unfounded.—Reuter.

JAPANESE LANDING AT TSINGTAO

CHINESE AMBASSADOR LODGES PROTEST

Tokyo Claims Justification For Action

Tokyo, December 6. A formal protest against the landing of Japanese marines at Tsingtao in connection with the mill lockout there was made to-day by Mr. Hsu Shih-ying to Mr. Hachiro Arita, the Japanese Foreign Minister.

The Chinese Ambassador pointed out that the Chinese police and Public Welfare Bureau at Tsingtao took excellent precautions against the strike situation and the landing of marines was unwarranted.

Replying, Mr. Arita declared that the verbal promises of the Chinese had not had sufficient power to control the situation which is feared might assume serious proportions through instigation of anti-Japanese elements, for which reason the landing party could not be withdrawn.

It is understood that Mr. Hsu and Mr. Arita also exchanged views on Sino-Japanese negotiations, in connection with which Mr. Kawagoe is believed to be sailing for Tokyo shortly.—Reuter.

STRAINED RELATIONS

Shanghai, Dec. 5. Sino-Japanese relations to-day appeared to be more severely strained than at any time in the past few months. The document presented by Mr. Kawagoe on Thursday and rejected by Mr. Chang Chun was again sent to the Foreign Office by the Japanese Embassy. It appears that the Japanese insist that the document represents what has already been agreed upon between Mr. Chang Chun and Mr. Kawagoe, and expected the immediate execution of the points mentioned in it. On the contrary, the Chinese Government declares that no agreement was reached.

While denying that China has broken off the negotiations, Chinese political circles state that Nanking regards a settlement of the Tsingtao incident as well as the clarification of Japan's intentions in Suiyuan as essential preliminaries to further discussions on the Sino-Japanese relations.—Reuter.

TOKYO CONFERENCE

Tokyo, Dec. 5. Following a conference between the Foreign, War and Navy Ministries, well-informed circles declare that the decision was reached that Japan will demand a definite reply to the note Mr. Kawagoe presented to Mr. Chang Chun yesterday afternoon, which Mr. Chang Chun refused to accept and returned to the Japanese Embassy. The conference also agreed to take appropriate measures of self-defence in the event of the negotiations being ruptured.—Reuter.

KAWAGOE LEAVES

Nanking, Dec. 5. Mr. Kawagoe left for Shanghai this morning by train. This is the first time he has left the capital since the conference with Mr. Chang Chun for readjustment of Sino-Japanese relations began. Mr. Kawagoe emphasised that his departure did not signify that the negotiations had been ruptured.—Reuter.

PRESS COMPLAINT

Shanghai, Dec. 5. The Chinese press continues to protest against the landing of Japanese marines in Tsingtao. The "China Times" says that it is most regrettable that an issue centring on the legitimate demand of Chinese workers for better conditions should have produced "this national insult to China."—Reuter.

NO SMOKING IN PUBLIC!

Canton, Dec. 6. The Canton Provincial Government in pursuance of the creed of the New Life Movement, has promulgated a notification to the effect that all employees of the Government departments, who have been in the habit of promiscuously smoking, when walking in the public streets of the city, thereby setting a bad example to the citizens, must cease smoking cigarettes in public in future.—Chinese Evening Press.

VIGOROUS ATTACK IN SUIYUAN

Japanese Planes Support Mongol Invaders

Shanghai, Dec. 6. A decisive general offensive against Hsingho, advance base of operations of the Suiyuan provincial forces, will be launched immediately by the Inner Mongolian troops, who are expecting large reinforcements to-day from Shanghai, north of Hsingho, reports reaching here indicate. Preparations for the offensive are being rushed by the invaders.

Supported by a number of Japanese planes, the Mongols are said to have launched yesterday morning a vigorous attack along the Suiyuan front, but reports state that they failed to make any marked advances.

Press dispatches from Taiyuan, Shansi capital, say that General Yen Hsi-shan, pacification commissioner for the area, yesterday morning held a meeting of provincial military leaders for discussion of measures to cope with the situation.—Union News.

CANTON-SHANGHAI RADIO PHONE

Canton, Dec. 6. Yesterday beginning 7 a.m. the radio phone between Shanghai and Canton was officially inaugurated and came into operation.

The ceremony was exceedingly brief, and the first to exchange messages were Civil Governor Wong Mo-chung, General Yu Han-mow, Mayor Tsang Yang-po, Mayor Yen Tsi-sing of Greater Shanghai and others, speeches being distinctly heard at both sides.

The next to use the radio phone were the merchants and bankers of both cities. The hours fixed for sending messages are 7 a.m. to 11 p.m.

Three minutes are allowed for each message. Over three minutes, and within nine minutes, will be considered as three messages. The fee for each ordinary message is $1.50, and 50 cents is the charge for each additional minute. The fee for special message is $2.10, and for each additional minute 70 cents will be charged.—Chinese Evening Press.

MR. SOONG GOES TO KWEILIN

To Meet Kwangsi Leaders

Canton, Dec. 6. Since his return from Hohhot, Mr. T.V. Soong, Chairman of the National Economic Council, has been occupied with his plans for the development of Hainan Island.

He decided to fly to Kweilin together with his secretary Mr. Chan Hong-chai and others yesterday to meet General Li Tsung-jen and Pei Chung-hai, and to study the economic conditions of Kwangsi Province.

However, the departure had to be postponed till to-day owing to the necessity for some slight repairs to the aeroplane, and the reason for the delay in Mr. Soong's departure has been telegraphed to Kweilin to relieve the anxiety of the anxious watchers assembled at the aerodrome in Kweilin.

It is understood that Mr. Soong will remain in Kweilin for one or two days, and will leave for the North after returning to Canton.—Chinese Evening Press.

LOCAL FOOTBALL

South China "A" Defeat Royal Navy

POLICE LOSE TO SOUTH CHINA "B"

Several interesting First Division League football encounters were witnessed during the week-end.

Yesterday afternoon at Causeway Bay, South China "A" accounted for the Royal Navy by three goals to one while at Caroline Hill South China "B" gathered two further points when they defeated the Police by three clear goals. At Sookunpoo, the Eastern disposed of the Royal Welsh Fusiliers by a similar score.

The Kowloon Football Club visited the Valley on Saturday where they overcame the H.K. Football Club in the League "derby" by four goals to two. The game was marred by an unfortunate incident when A. S. Bliss, the Interporter and Kowloon F. C. player, was sent off the field for alleged rough play. The Royal Ulster Rifles defeated the Kowloon Chinese 5-2 and the East Lancashire had the better of the exchanges against the Chinese Athletic winning by the odd goal in three.

In the Junior Shield, the Kumaon Rifles, making their first appearance here, lost to the Kowloon Chinese by eight clear goals.

NAVY DEFEATED BY SOUTH CHINA "A"

(BY VOX POPULI)

A remarkably large crowd turned up to witness a keen struggle between the Royal Navy and South China "A". Nor were they disappointed for after a very fair ninety minutes display of football, South China "A" ran out winners by three goals to one.

South China won the toss and Navy kicked off against the sun. The start was sensational, Lai Shui Wing striking the side support of the net in the first minute. A few seconds later two corners fell in quick succession to South China "A" but Cocker was in his usual brilliant form and saved well. The Navy were not pressing strongly but bad finishing by Le Page spoiled what was otherwise a good thing. At the other end a long drive by Leung Wing Chiu was completely misjudged by the Naval goalie who allowed the ball to trickle into the corner of the net.

Not in the least upset by this reverse, the Navy continued to attack the Chinese goal. Cocker made a neat save from Fung King Cheung but a few moments later, Ip Pak Wa scored a perfect goal from a nicely placed centre. However, in the next few minutes, Cannell made up part of the deficiency by scoring from a shot at close range. At half-time the score stood at 2 goals to 1 for the Chinese.

A few minutes after resumption of play Pau Ka-pink saved a penalty kick from the foot of Wolverston. Then the Chinese scored again during a melee before the Naval goal. The Navy were again pressing and the Chinese were forced to concede a corner which Le Page promptly sent past.

NAVY'S EASY WIN

A spirited and interesting encounter took place at Causeway yesterday where the Navy had as visitors, the Royal Engineers in a second division fixture. For a second division game, the standard of play was very high and some sparkling footwork was witnessed by a large crowd of spectators. The game ended in a win for the Navy by four goals to two, a result which just about hits the mark.

Smith (3) and Wolff were the scorers for the Navy, while Howlett and Callard replied once each for the Engineers.

SOUTH CHINA "B" WIN EASILY

South China won the toss and immediately bore down on the Police goal, which ended in Li Shau Yau sending over a good centre, which was gathered up well by his inside right who shot just over. A movement was started by the police half-backs and Brooks finally shot high over the bar. In a South China rush Yeuk Hon Woo was almost through, but stumbled over the back. Almost immediately Li Shau Yau passed to Chak Shau Kam who shot hard, Manning saving on his knees. The Police now showed up and Moss shot over when well placed. Parker then had a try and his seemingly easy shot was fumbled by Wong Wah Kai, but no other Police forward was near enough to clinch matters. At the other end a hand ball against the Police resulted in Yeung Sui Yick shooting over. Yeung Sui Yick who was playing a good game at outside right, almost scored for South China with a wonderful cross. Eventually his perseverance was rewarded when he sent over a beautiful cross shot which was pounced on by Chan Tak Fai, who drove home a good goal.

The second half opened briskly. South China breaking away but Chan Tak Fai was ruled offside. In another South China raid Li Shau Yau was fouled just outside the penalty area. His shot, however, was charged down by Gough and cleared. A long pass to the South China right wing found the Police defence spread-eagled. Yeung Sui Yick forced a corner and placed beautifully to Li Shau Yau who drove into the net first time for his side's second goal.

A hand ball against a Police defender, just outside the penalty area was taken by Yeung Sui Yick who scored the third goal with a fine drive. This goal proved the last and left the result without doubt.

EASTERN SCORE 3-1 WIN

The Welsh Fusiliers and Eastern clashed in their First Division encounter at Sookunpoo yesterday. The Soldiers opened up the attack but Wheeler, failing to clear a ball gave Lai Tin Choy his chance which he made no mistake with, sending in a very fast low shot to beat Rowlands all the way. A few minutes later the Soldiers were again in trouble, Taylor, the left half, being unfortunate in handling the ball inside the penalty area. San Lin Shing was called upon to take the spot kick, which he put high in the left hand corner of the net. After this setback the Fusiliers seemed to take a new lease of life and were soon bombarding the Eastern's goal. Cheng Sing-hang sent in a first timer which completely beat Rowlands just before interval came with Eastern leading 3-0.

Opening up the second half the Fusiliers were soon attacking strongly. Sullivan made a run through and sent in a fast shot which one of the backs stopped with his hands, thereby giving away a penalty kick. Sullivan took the kick and sent in a scoring shot. During this session the referee had occasion to warn Cokely. The game came to a close with Eastern getting most of the exchanges.

FUSILIERS FLAY EASTERN

The Royal Welsh Fusiliers entertained the Eastern in a Second Division match at Sookunpoo yesterday and what promised to be a real good match, turned out to be a one-sided affair. Little or no opposition was given against the soldiers.

Slack opened up the scoring with a pass from the right wing which he made full use of. The Eastern took this badly and they let the soldiers forward line continually break through. Grinley scoring the next goal. After a bit of monotonous mid-field play, Grinley made a breakaway and sent another rasping shot bringing the score to 3-0 just before the interval.

On resumption the soldiers carried on as before shooting at will, and Bumster, taking advantage of a pass, increased the lead. Not content with this Bumster again broke through and scored with a drive into the left hand corner of the net. The final whistle went with the score at 5-1 for the Soldiers.

WEAK CLUB SIDE LOSE TO KOWLOON

An unfortunate incident occurred during the First Division soccer encounter between Kowloon and the Club at the Club ground on Saturday when Bliss, the Kowloon privet received "marching orders" for an alleged foul against Fowler. The incident occurred midway through the second half.

The Club fielded a weak side and found the visitors too good for them; the final score resulting in 4 goals to 2 in favour of Kowloon. The Club's misfortunes began before the game started when, already playing substitutes for Bickford and Drown, Fleming failed to put in an appearance. His place was taken by Sloan, while they were forced to play a badly-crippled Skinner on the right wing.

Kowloon were headed by a line of aggressive forwards and on the whole were a better balanced team. A feature of the Club's playing was the splendid defence which worked hard against the fast moving Kowloon forwards. Rodger, the Club custodian, played most efficiently between the sticks and was partly responsible for keeping the score low.

Kowloon opened the score after seven minutes of play through Froggatt but it was evened a few minutes later when Wilson netted the ball with a splendid long drive. Kowloon forged into the lead again when Knox crashed in a terrific drive and shortly after Blake added to Kowloon's total. A minute before half-time Elliott reduced the Club's arrears.

The Club managed to hold their own for a long time after interval, but Archer broke through to score the fourth goal for Kowloon.

A splendid rally on the part of their forwards during the latter part of the game was responsible for the Rifles' defeat of the Kowloon Chinese in their Senior League soccer match at Sookunpoo on Saturday. Four goals scored in the last fifteen minutes of the game clinched the victory for the Rifles, the final result being 5 goals to 2.

An alert and fast-moving Chinese front line kept the Rifles' defence on the constant move and dangerously threatened the soldiers' goal every time they broke through. However, the tables were turned on the Chinese when the Army staged their great rally and launched a series of rapid-like attacks on the Chinese goal.

Within a few minutes of the opening the soldiers obtained the initial lead when Coyle netted with a distant shot that left the Chinese custodian beaten hopelessly. After several scrimmages in front of the Army goal the Chinese evened the score through Lau Chung-nang, which Wong Wing-hon increased a few minutes later with a fast ground shot.

It was not until late in the second half that the soldiers equalled through Godfrey. Further goals were added by Ferguson (2) and

C.B.A. Ladies Show Improved Form

CAER CLARK CUP

Displaying improved form, the C.B.A. Ladies (champions) shared the points with the "Y" Ladies in their Caer Clark Cup hockey encounter on Saturday.

Though the "Y" Ladies had more of the game, the result was a fair indication of the play.

The "Y" forward line was disjointed while in the defence, Miss A. Fowler did not strike her best form.

Mrs. Starbuck tackled well and cleared accurately.

In the Association forward line, Mrs. Burton and Miss D. Hunt played well. The former's goal was one of the best seen for a long time.

In the defence, Miss O. Peters and Miss P. Woolley were prominent.

The "Y" Ladies opened the scoring through Miss M. Smith in the first half, but Mrs. Burton equalised in the second half.

RECREO UNLUCKY

The Recreo Ladies were defeated by St. Andrew's Club Ladies as the result of a goal scored by Miss P. Gittins in the second half.

The Recreo deserved to share the spoils.

The Saints' intermediate line did not play well.

In the forward line Miss P. Gittins was very hard working.

In the Recreo defence Miss O. Osmund and Mrs. L. Silva bore the brunt of the Saints' attack.

BRAWN CUP

In the Brawn Cup hockey competition the "Y" Ladies beat the C.B.S. "B" by the only goal scored in the match, thus recording their first win in the series.

Miss Blume scored the goal.

H.K. LADIES' WIN

At the Valley on Saturday, the Hong Kong Ladies beat the Central British Association Ladies by six goals to nil. Miss M. Smalley (4), and Miss Blackburn and Mrs. M. Weir scored the goals.

RIFLES' LADIES WIN

The Royal Ulster Rifles' Ladies defeated the Diocesan School Girls by 3 goals to 1.

Miss E. Hamon (2) and Mrs. Campbell scored for the winners and Miss H. Bockler netted the only goal for the losers.

EAST LANCES. WIN BY ODD GOAL

In a slow-moving game, which at the outset gave every indication during the first fifteen minutes of developing into exciting entertainment, the East Lancashire Regiment defeated the Athletic by the odd goal in three in their Senior League soccer encounter on Saturday.

With the exception of Ekersley, the East Lances' halves showed a distinct reluctance to come to grips with the Chinese forwards. Time and again the Athletics were allowed much more latitude than was safe. The soldiers' forward line seemed to experience great difficulty in keeping good combination whilst on the move. The East Lances showed no signs of improvement until they obtained the lead in score just before half time.

O'Donnell opened the scoring and the East Lances' position were strengthened shortly after resumption of play when Green scored from close range. The Athletic reduced their deficit through Chn Chi-fun

Baby's Nannie advised me to use this Talcum Powder

"One day I came home hot and tired after four strenuous sets of tennis—my skin felt hot and prickly all over. Nannie had just finished Baby's evening toilet, and as I was going in to the bathroom, she offered me a tin of Cuticura Talcum. I've never known anything so soothing—it is the finest talcum powder I've ever known—after strenuous exercise I ask for no better pick-me-up than a bath finished off with this talcum. The perfume alone made me love it at once—such a delicate, sweet fragrance."

It is because of its fineness and absolute purity that Cuticura Talcum is recommended by doctors and nurses for a baby's sensitive skin. And this is the reason why women find it a joy to use after bathing—or whenever the skin is chafed and feels tender. No other powder is so satiny smooth—it is like a cooling balm on a hot skin. And its sweet, refreshing fragrance perfumes the whole body long afterwards.

TEST MATCH

AUSTRALIA BATTING:
BRADMAN OUT

Brisbane, Dec. 5.
Australia, with 8 wickets in hand, are 207 runs behind the England first innings total in the first cricket Test, which commenced here on Friday.

England lost her remaining four wickets for 95 runs and Australia, in reply to a total of 358, and after losing C. Badcock, the young South Australian, with only 13 runs on the board, scored 151 for 2 before stumps were drawn for the day.

The match will be continued to-day and tomorrow.

There was a crowd of 20,000 present in sunny, warm weather, with a southerly breeze, when Hardstaff (27) and Robins (6) went out to resume the England innings at 263 for 6 on a wicket that was considered good.

The pair added 48 runs before Hardstaff mislaid a ball from O'Reilly and McCabe accepted the skier at square leg, 311-7-43.

Showing more confidence this morning, Hardstaff was at the wicket for 125 minutes, hitting eight boundaries. O'Reilly met with further success at the same total, Robins being caught at cover by Brown, who is substituting for the indisposed McCormick, for 38. In an innings lasting 40 minutes, Robins hit seven boundaries, mostly as the result of cutting and driving.

OLDFIELD HURT

Allen (34), the English captain, and Verity (3) then remained together until lunch was taken at 339 for 8. Both batsmen revealed perfect patience and waited only for the few loose balls. With the total at 332 a ball from Chipperfield hit Allen's pads and struck Oldfield, the Australian wicket-keeper, a nasty blow under the left eye, forcing him to retire from the field for five minutes.

A crowd of 25,000 saw Verity fall to O'Reilly soon after the resumption, Slivers bringing off a nice catch at square leg, 343-9-7.

Verity had batted 63 minutes for his seven runs. Allen hit a six off O'Reilly, but two balls later he was caught off the same bowler by McCabe at mid on, 358-10-35. He had batted for 75 minutes and hit a six and four boundaries.

England took 401 minutes to secure their 358 runs.

BADCOCK'S BAD LUCK

Fingleton and Badcock opened the Australian innings in the face of the "shock" attack of Allen and Voce, and with only 13 runs on the board Badcock had the misfortune to play an inswinger from Allen on to his stumps, 13-1-7.

Don Bradman, the Australian skipper, however, stepped into the breach and helped Fingleton to add 98 runs before tea was taken at 81 for 1, Fingleton then being 30 and Bradman 37.

Bradman, however, had a very narrow escape when he had scored only five, Voce beating him but just missing the stumps.

BRADMAN OUT

Bradman left very soon after the resumption, only eight runs being added before he was caught in two minds and fell to a catch backward point off Voce, 89-2-38.

Bradman had batted for 71 minutes and hit five boundaries. After a shaky opening he seemed set for a big score. It was not, however, a characteristic knock.

McCabe joined Fingleton and the century was hoisted after 102 minutes, but thereafter the rate of scoring slowed down owing to poor light, although the 150 was signalled after 173 minutes. The pair undefeated at the close of play, when the score was 151 for 2, Fingleton being 61, as the result of a sound innings—he reached 50 after 138 minutes—in which most of the scoring shots were on the off side, and McCabe 37.

The attendance was 30,757 representing gate receipts of £23,537, both of which constitute records for the ground.

"Groups of native hardwood trees are to be planted on hills in every county from Land's End to John o' Groat's" an official of the Society stated recently. "The smallest plantation will be about 200 acres in extent. The plantations may eventually become bird sanctuaries."

FOREIGN FEELINGS SUMMARISED

Washington Hopes Crisis Will Be Surmounted

Washington, Dec. 6. Official circles are appreciative of the fact that the British monarchy is one of the few stabilising forces in this distracted world and anything disturbing it would have repercussions.

Washington hopes that Britain will surmount the crisis without damaging the prestige of the crown. This hope also reflects the popular feeling in the country.

AMERICANS AMAZED

New York, Dec. 6. A king tired and weary, fighting gallantly single-handed a fight with the forces of conservatism while the public is rapidly gathering round to his support, is the spectacle which is presented to the American public in despatches from London which are most sympathetic towards the King.

News broadcasts from Britain amaze the Americans by their calmness and detachment.

HEARST PAPER'S VIEW

New York, Dec. 6. Hearst's "Evening Journal" says: "Though the Americans realise the serious constitutional difficulties involved in the marriage, they feel that even a king should be free to wed a woman of his choice, particularly as she happens to be a charming American woman. Such an alliance, though without political significance, certainly would not injure the friendship and mutual understanding now existing between his nation and our own."

FRENCH SYMPATHY

Paris, Dec. 6. Press references to the crisis are universally sympathetic to the King and the British nation which is regarded as facing a problem with calm dignity and abedication which is generally expected to be the only way out.

ITALIAN INTEREST

Rome, Dec. 6. Italy is following the crisis very closely and with real sympathy for the difficult and distressing time King Edward the English Parliament and the Empire are suffering.

GERMAN PUBLIC IN DARK

Berlin, Dec. 6. Owing to an official order issued to the German press forbidding report or comment on the crisis "for reason of tact," the German public is completely in the dark.

SOVIET REPORTS

Moscow, Dec. 6. The Soviet press reports the crisis and mentions Mrs. Simpson, but makes no comment.

BRITISH PRESS COMMENT

London, Dec. 6. Mr. J. L. Garvin, of the "Observer," discussing the King's "memorable choice between intermarriage and the throne," excludes any question of compromise and says that the King's decision, whichever it is, will be received with profound emotion and everlasting respect. Either way he will have paid the full price.

The "Sunday Times" says there are grounds for believing that Mr. Stanley Baldwin in the Commons tomorrow afternoon will make an important announcement of definite development of the constitutional situation.

The Journal's political correspondent adds that the Cabinet is overwhelmingly supported by all parties and it is generally felt that the position cannot be allowed to drift.

"OLD GUARD"

The "Daily Herald" in an editorial, says that it is regrettable that Mr. Baldwin has not yet realised the urgency of telling the people the facts. The people will know that the "Old Guard" would fight against the King's marriage to a commoner. They know that the King's intimacy with his people, his nearness to them, his sympathy with their difficulties, his concern with their troubles, are not altogether pleasing to this Old Guard, and it is therefore impera-

FANLING MEET

The halt after this run was surely appreciated, and then they commenced the second run on a line leading south, terminating at the stables.

As has been the case on many previous occasions, the lines were laid by Mr. Alec Potts, whose enthusiasm, happily for participants and spectators, never seems to wane.

The Whips were Lt. Enriques and Lt. Barker-Carr, and they experienced but little trouble in deftly handling the eight couple of hounds which looked very fit and well.

Judging by yesterday's meet it looks as though Captain Swinbourne is going to give followers a splendid season.

As has been stated, there were about fifty followers, and in the hustle and bustle of the meet there was but little leisure in which to make an exact note of the riders. However, as one moved along it was gratifying to note that there was such a large Naval contingent, all of whom were obviously enjoying both the exercise and the sport.

Amongst the ladies who were well-up with hounds were Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Swinbourne and Mrs. Eric Nelson. It seemed a little disappointing that there were not more ladies at this first meet, but, as nothing succeeds like success, one feels certain that at future meets there will be many more whose presence facilitates so greatly the social as well as the sporting pleasures of such a gathering.

One of the most enthusiastic of the mere males was Colonel Rodwell, and it was good to see the "arm of the law" so admirably represented in the agile person of Mr. Scott.

Amongst the many spectators were noticed the Hon. Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Paterson, Capt. and Mrs. Walker, Mrs. B. Bathurst, Mrs. Stevens and Dr. Anderson.

EUROPEAN STILL MISSING

No Trace Of Mr. Bill

No trace has as yet been found of Mr. T. L. Bill, who has been missing from his residence, 23, Lee Yuen Street, since November 1.

The missing man is aged 27 years, and was wearing a gray flannel suit when last seen. He is of medium height and has a fair complexion.

He is believed to be an ex-Customs service man.

tive, for Mr. Baldwin to tell the people why the Cabinet and the Dominions oppose the marriage.

"TELL US THE FACTS"

The "News Chronicle," calling for the full facts of the issue immediately, says that the crisis has become graver as a result of Mr. Baldwin's bald statement in the House of Commons. There is a strong desire growing among the public that the King should marry Mrs. Simpson, but that she should not become queen. The laws can be changed. Why cannot the necessary legislation be passed? The Government must take the people fully into their confidence. The people can be trusted to form a wise decision.

The "Daily Mirror" devotes the whole of its front page to the matter, headed "God Save the King" and followed by gigantic letters reading: "Tell us the facts, Mr. Baldwin: The nation insists on knowing the King's full demands and conditions: The country will give you the verdict."

MONTREAL COMMENT

Montreal, Dec. 5. The "Gazette" says that Empire sentiment appears to be voicing itself almost unanimously in support of the position Mr. Stanley Baldwin and his colleagues have taken up. So much is at stake and so grave and far-reaching are the implications in this regrettable conflict that the Government at Westminster could not do less than it has done, having regard to its constitutional responsibility.

OTTAWA TRIBUTE

Ottawa, Dec. 5. The "Citizen" pays tribute to the King's work among the unemployed in Wales and elsewhere and earnestly hopes that His Majesty will continue at whatever personal sacrifice to thus serve the cause of the people in distress. The great majority of the British people assuredly will be behind him in this kindly service.

RUSSIA'S NEW CONSTITUTION

Declaration Of War Provisions

"Hong Kong Daily Press" Special.

Moscow, Dec. 5. With minor amendments, the Soviet Union's new "constitution" was accepted by the Union of Soviet's congress in its concluding session on Saturday. Most of the outstanding features of the new constitution are, it will be recalled, the abolition of the former separation of legislation from executive power, and amalgamation in one supreme council and the creation of the people's commissariat for war industries.

In view of the critical reception with the new constitution has had in the press of western Europe, the Soviet propagandists have now changed their methods and no longer attempt to lay stress on the similarity of the constitution to that of western democracies, but merely laud it as "unique and unsurpassed."

One of the outstanding amendments to the new constitution made by the Soviet congress is that of Article 49. While the article in question reads as follows in a draft permitted to congress, "In periods between sessions of the supreme council, Presidents of the Supreme Council may declare war in the event of an unprovoked attack on the Soviet Union," the following words have now been added to the original text, "or in the event that it becomes necessary to fulfill international obligations under mutual assistance of pacts."

It is announced here that December 5, "the day of acceptance of the new constitution," will be celebrated as a national holiday in future.

As the Pope was under an obligation of silence he sent a letter last night to Cardinal Pacelli excusing himself on the ground he was unwell with "local trouble."

SERIOUS ILLNESS

Rome, Dec. 6. The Pope's indisposition is declared by medical advisers to be a form of gout which resulted in excessive production of uric acid. Doctors point out that the complaint is more serious than at first believed, as inflamed veins require extremely careful treatment.

Nevertheless, it is hoped that the crisis will be successfully overcome.

SLIGHT IMPROVEMENT

of experience, the simple rules and ways of operating the guns were not acted upon as efficiently as they were during ordinary training.

The battle ended, all sections were reassembled and marched back to the camp for a deserving rest.

ARMY INSTRUCTORS

The camp was properly carried out in army style so far as orders and regulations were concerned and the messes were efficiently catered to. A rather high standard of efficiency were maintained throughout both days and most of the spare time was devoted to section and platoon trainings. Instructions were given by members of the Royal Ulster Rifles.

A held Church Service for Roman Catholics was held early yesterday morning and was largely attended.
